To Assume a Position of Senior Responsibility

As a member of an eight-man group of specialists performing highly advanced mathematical analysis, the man we are seeking will encounter uniquely challenging problems arising from the intersection of communication theory and statistical inference.

The philosophy of operation here encourages consultation with colleagues, close contact with physical problems from formulation phases through evaluation, and diversity of assignments in related areas. Computer programming personnel are available for personal direction in computations with an IBM 704. Technical support also includes a full complement of aides for hand calculations, curve-plotting, and technical reports.

REQUIREMENTS: Ph.D. in Mathematical Statistics (or lower degree plus 4-6 years applicable academic or industrial experience). Familiarity with parameter estimation as applied to multivariate distributions; time series analysis with appreciation of complications of nonstationary stochastic processes; combinatorial analysis and generating functions for analysis of discrete random variables; design and analysis of experiments.

THE AMERICAN MATHEMATICAL SOCIETY
respectfully invites and deeply appreciates
BEQUESTS AND OTHER CAPITAL GIFTS

A legacy or other capital gift to the American Mathematical Society is an effective contribution to the advancement of mathematical research. Investment income provides essential support for the activities of the Society, and most of it is derived from gifts and bequests which have been made over the years by persons interested in mathematics.

It is the policy of the Society to recognize a donor by attaching his name, or any other name specified by him as a memorial, to the fund given by him or to the activity supported by the fund. Gifts and bequests to the Society are deductible for income, gift, and state tax purposes.
