

THE APRIL MEETING IN CHICAGO

The six hundred thirty-fourth meeting of the American Mathematical Society was held at the University of Chicago Conference Center for Continuing Education on April 20–23, 1966. There were 285 persons registered, including 270 members of the Society.

By invitation of the Committee to Select Hour Speakers for Western Sectional Meetings, Professor Glen Baxter of Purdue University spoke on Some aspects of the Ising model, on the afternoon of Friday, April 22. Professor Seymour Sherman introduced the speaker. By invitation of the same committee, Professor Hans Grauert of Göttingen and Notre Dame Universities spoke on Nonarchimedian analysis on the morning of Saturday, April 23. Professor F. E. Browder introduced the speaker. By invitation of the same committee, Professor R. G. Swan of the University of Chicago spoke on Modules over finite groups, on the afternoon of Saturday, April 23. Professor J. G. Thompson presided.

On Wednesday afternoon and on Thursday and Friday April 20–22, there was a Symposium on Singular Integrals. The subject was chosen by the Committee to Select Hour Speakers for Western Sectional Meetings. Financial support came from the National Science Foundation and the University of Chicago. The Invitations Committee responsible for the planning of the program and the choice of speakers consisted of Professors Alberto Calderón (Chairman), K. O. Friedrichs, R. T. Seeley, and Antoni Zygmund.

Papers presented at the Symposium will be published by the Society as Volume 10 in the series Proceedings of Symposia in Pure Mathematics. The volume will be edited by Professor Alberto Calderón.

There were nine sessions for contributed papers on Friday afternoon and on Saturday. The chairmen of these sessions were Doctors John Polking, Raphael Coifman, Robert Wells, Professors Maynard Arsove, Daniel Waterman, M. E. Rudin, Doctors Richard Hunt, Paul Sally, and Professor A. L. Liulevicius. Dr. R. L. Wheeden was in charge of local arrangements.

The Council met on Saturday, April 23. The Secretary announced the election of the following one hundred and fifty-eight persons to ordinary membership in the Society:
