

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF MATHEMATICIANS

Several donations to the International Congress of Mathematicians have been received since the most recent announcement was published in this BULLETIN and mailed to members of the Society. The Society wishes to express its thanks at this time to the following organizations and individuals who have made contributions.

ORGANIZATIONS

Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation	Mathematical Association of America
American Academy of Arts and Sciences	Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company
Bell Telephone Laboratories	National Research Council
Boston College	New England Mutual Life Insurance Company
Boston University	Northwestern National Life Insurance Company
Carnegie Corporation	University of Notre Dame
Corning Glass Works	Prudential Insurance Company
Allen B. DuMont Laboratories, Inc.	Radio Corporation of America
Eastman Kodak Company	Register and Tribune Company
General Electric Company	Rockefeller Foundation
Harvard University	Shell Oil Company
Hercules Powder Company	Standard Oil Development Company
Institute for Advanced Study	Tufts College
International Business Machines Company	United Fruit Company
Jackson and Moreland	United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization
John Hancock Life Insurance Company	D. Van Nostrand Company
Johns-Manville Corporation	John Wiley and Company
Lincoln National Life Insurance Company	Yale University
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

INDIVIDUALS

R. W. Byerly	T. J. Coolidge	W. B. Ford	Philip W. Pillsbury
Donald Cody	Otto Dunkel	A. L. Lowell	G. E. Roosevelt
J. L. Coolidge	B. N. Everett	A. L. Miller	Philip Stockton