MATHEMATICAL STATISTICIAN Ph.D.

To Assume a Position of Senior Responsibility

As a member of an eight-man group of specialists performing highly advanced mathematical analysis, the man we are seeking will encounter uniquely challenging problems arising from the intersection of communication theory and statistical inference.

The philosophy of operation here encourages consultation with colleagues, close contact with physical problems from formulation phases through evaluation, and diversity of assignments in related areas. Computer programming personnel are available for personal direction in computations with an IBM 704. Technical support also includes a full complement of aides for hand calculations, curve-plotting, and technical reports.

REQUIREMENTS: Ph.D. in Mathematical Statistics (or lower degree plus 4-6 years applicable academic or industrial experience). Familiarity with parameter estimation as applied to multivariate distributions; time series analysis with appreciation of complications of nonstationary stochastic processes; combinatorial analysis and generating functions for analysis of discrete random variables; design and analysis of experiments.

respectfully invites and deeply appreciates
BEQUESTS AND OTHER CAPITAL GIFTS

A legacy or other capital gift to the American Mathematical Society is an effective contribution to the advancement of mathematical research. Investment income provides essential support for the activities of the Society, and most of it is derived from gifts and bequests which have been made over the years by persons interested in mathematics.

It is the policy of the Society to recognize a donor by attaching his name, or any other name specified by him as a memorial, to the fund given by him or to the activity supported by the fund. Gifts and bequests to the Society are deductible for income, gift, and state tax purposes.

ENGINEERS - SCIENTISTS

The Amherst Laboratory

Sylvania's

Center for Communications Research & Development

Mathematicians with advanced degrees and a lasting interest in some field of mathematical research will find in Sylvania's Amherst Laboratory both the opportunity and the environment to do creative work. Areas of interest include, BUT ARE NOT LIMITED TO, number theory, group theory, combinatorial design, stochastic processes, Monte Carlo techniques, information theory, game theory and statistical decision theory.

Scientists evaluating our employment opportunities will find that we amply reward creative ability, not only with a competitive, industrial-range salary, but also with liberal fringe benefits. Sylvania provides both life and hospitalization insurance as a company-paid benefit, and encourages membership in professional societies and subscriptions to technical publications by paying one-half the cost of dues and subscription fees.

The Amherst Laboratory is located in Western New York near Buffalo, Niagara Falls and the Province of Ontario.

Mathematicians interested in the Laboratory's expanding program of research are invited to write, in complete confidence, to the undersigned. A brief resume of education, experience and current interests, together with address and telephone number, will bring a prompt reply.
