of partial fractions for square root of 853, for "15" read 14; so that the line will be

29, 4, 1, 5, 1, 2, 4, 1, 1, 14, 19, (2, 2)

instead of 29, 4, 1, 5, 1, 2, 4, 1, 1, 15, 19, (2, 2).

Degen's values of x and y in both cases are correct. H. J.

MACMILLAN & Co. have in press a treatise on the "Applications of elliptic functions" by A. G. Greenhill. They have in preparation a work on "Hydrostatics" by the same author, and one on the "Theory of heat" by Thomas Preston.
