Proceedings of Symposia in Pure Mathematics

FINITE GROUPS

The eleven articles in this book are texts of addresses which were delivered at a symposium held in April, 1959. The discussions at the symposium were lively and served to indicate an enormous renewed interest in one of the oldest branches of algebra. The major new results in the field which are brought out in this book should serve to stimulate research activity in the Theory of Groups, one of the most beautiful subjects of mathematics.

CONTENTS

Finite groups with normal p -complements	J. G. Thompson
Burnside groups and Engel rings	R. C. Lyndon
On the structure of certain solvable groups	Daniel Gorenstein
On groups which contain Frobenius groups as subgroups	Walter Feit
Current studies on permutation groups	Marshall Hall, Jr.
Review of some results in collineation groups	Daniel Hughes
On finite groups with geometrical properties	Wilhelm Magnus
Symmetrical definitions for the binary polyhedral groups	H. S. M. Coxeter
Applications of group characters	Michio Suzuki
On maximal subgroups	W. E. Deskins
On an application of the theory of Lie algebras to group theory	Hans Zassenhaus
