The Michigan Mathematical Journal is published by the University of Michigan Press, with support from The University of Michigan. Each volume consists of four issues. The price is $4 per volume on orders for private use, $12 per volume on orders for institutional use. The price of individual issues is $3. Subscription orders should be sent to the University of Michigan Press, Ann Arbor, Michigan. The Press accepts payments for one, two, or three years in advance.

Papers submitted for publication should be sent to the Managing Editors, Michigan Mathematical Journal, Department of Mathematics, The University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, 48104.

Manuscripts should be typed (not hektographed) on bond. They should be at least double-spaced, with generous margins. All footnotes will be absorbed into the text, except the date of receipt and possible acknowledgments of assistance or financial support. Where the author refers to a book, in the text of his paper, he should identify the passage that he has in mind by citing a section, page number, or specific theorem. The list of references must be in alphabetical-chronological order; abbreviations of the names of journals and references to books should follow the standard form established by Mathematical Reviews.

The Michigan Mathematical Journal is lithoprinted from typed copy. This process limits the range of available fonts but permits greater versatility in displaying formulas than does letter press. Greek, German, script, and italics are available only in standard size, boldface not at all. Mathematical symbols from the English alphabet are normally printed in the Roman font.

Authors who wish rapid publication are urged to pay careful attention to style and syntax. In this connection, the editors recommend The Elements of Style by William Strunk, Jr. and E. B. White, Macmillan Company, New York, 1959.
