Who produces scientific information services that are

MULTIDISCIPLINARY CURRENT ECONOMICAL
EASY TO USE
HIGHLY EFFECTIVE?

The Institute for Scientific Information. Expert at providing researchers and scholars in nearly every scientific and technical discipline with the journal information they need. When they need it. Economically.

ISI literally makes the world's scientific literature work for you. To upgrade your research. To save you and your organization time and money. And to improve your professional performance and standing.

ISI now covers more than 4,000 key journals. We cover them quickly and completely. And we retrieve the material they contain better than anybody else.

Our information services are now sixteen in number. For full details, send for a free copy of our new brochure.

We do.
