

CORRECTION

The memorial statement in Volume 9, Number 2 for Robert Battig may have given some readers the impression that his death was the result of a conscious decision to end his own life. In fact his death was ruled accidental by the Ithaca coroner and as I wrote in the posthumous biographical sketch in his thesis: "Robert died from complications of his diabetes." I apologize to Robert's family and friends for not making this clear.

Richard Durrett, Editor