Time-Savers in Mathematical Classes

are always welcome. Short cuts to a knowledge of the essential formulas are strong assets. Professor Moritz of the University of Washington has provided two such practical aids for classes in advanced mathematics. Please write to us if you are unacquainted with

Moritz's College Engineering Notebook

With rectangular, polar, and logarithmic coordinate paper, and a listing of important mathematical formulas. In Biflex Binder, $1.00.

For students in civil, mechanical, and electrical engineering.

Moritz's College Mathematics Notebook

With rectangular and polar coördinate paper; and essential tables and formulas. In Biflex Binder, 80 cents.

Invaluable for classes in college algebra, trigonometry, analytics, and the calculus.
